Form

- Question tags are short questions that we add to the end of statements. We form question tags with the auxiliary / modal verb of the statement + a pronoun. We use a comma before question tags.

They're watching TV at the moment, aren't they?

- We use negative question tags after positive statements.

You liked the film, didn't you?

- We use positive question tags after negative statements.

She doesn't usually go out in the evenings, does she?

- The question tag for I am is aren't I?

I'm early, aren't I?

- The question tag for let's is shall we? (in both negative and affirmative sentences).

Let's go, shall we? Let's not talk about this now, shall we?

- The question tag for imperatives is will you? (in both negative and affirmative sentences).

Be quiet, will you? Don't do this now, will you?

- When the sentence begins with there (e.g. there is / there are, there was / there were), we use there in the question tag.

There aren't enough chairs, are there?

Use

We use question tags:

- when we think or know that something is true and expect the listener to agree with us.

A: The actors were brilliant, weren't they? B: Yes, fantastic!

- when we are not sure if something is true and want to check.

A: Tim doesn't live with you, does he? B: No, he's just staying for the weekend.
