OCTOPUSES

An octopus is a creature which lives in the sea. It has a round head with two large eyes. People often think that octopuses have eight legs, but they quite/actually/still have four pairs of arms. Octopuses live in oceans all about/of/around the world. Octopuses that live in warm water are small, and both/those/each that live in cold water are much bigger/big/biggest. Most octopuses are 'nocturnal'. This means that they sleep all/some/the day, and move around and eat at night. Octopuses usually live during/since/for one or two years. To move, octopuses usually use their arms to walk past/along/between the bottom of the sea. When they need to, they can swim at forty kilometres an hour for a short time. Before/If/While an octopus needs to hide from more/every/other creatures, it can change colour. It can also get into very small spaces because its body is very soft. Octopuses are very clever. For example, they can learn/learning/learned new things and open bottles.

Octopuses can see very well with their large eyes, but they can't hear anything.

Last summer, Robert and Harry stayed at their grandparents' house by the sea. One hot and sunny morning, Grandmother made a picnic and took the boys to the beach. After lunch, Grandmother lay down and opened her book. The boys played football on the beach and then made a little castle with some sand.

Then Harry saw a strange cave which was near some big grey rocks at the other end of the beach. The boys quickly ran to it and looked in, but they couldn't see anything because it was very dark. Harry said, 'It looks big inside. Come on! I'll go first.'

Harry and Robert were playing inside the cave when suddenly Robert said, 'Oh no! I can hear the sea! It's coming into the cave.' They were very afraid, but then Harry felt something wet on his hand. It was a dog's nose! The dog was very clever. It showed the boys another way out of the cave and back to the beach.

When they told their grandmother about the dog, she gave him three biscuits and said, 'Well done!'

'We're hungry too!' the boys said. 'Well!,' Grandmother answered, 'you must wait until dinner. It was naughty to go into a dangerous place like that.' 'We're very, very sorry, Grandma!' they said. 'We won't do it again.'
