Use Noun Clause Connector Correctly

Skill 9

Name : _____

Teacher: Ms. Dini

Class : _____

A noun clause is a clause that functions as a noun. Because the noun clause is a noun, it is used in a sentence as either an object of a verb; an object of preposition, or the subject of the sentence.

1. I know

2. When will he come

} I know when he will come
Noun clause as object of verb

In the example above, there two clauses, I know and he will come. This clause is joined by a connector WHEN. WHEN changes the clause he will arrive into a noun clause that functions as the object of the verb KNOW.

1. I am concerned about

2. when will he arrive

} I am concerned about when he will arrive
Noun clause as object of preposition

In the example above, there two clauses, I am concerned and he will arrive. This clause is joined by a connector WHEN. WHEN changes the clause he will arrive into a noun clause that functions as the object of the preposition ABOUT.

When he will arrive is not important
Noun clause as subject

In the example above, It is more difficult. There are two clauses, but they area a little harder to recognize. He will arrive is is one of the clauses, and the connector WHEN changes into a noun clause that functions as the subjects of the sentence. The other clause has the main clause WHEN HE WILL ARRIVE as its subject and is as its verb.
