

This 1) _____ takes place in the city of Paris in the late 15th century. Quasimodo, the deformed bell-ringer of Notre-Dame 2) _____, has been locked in the bell tower all his life. Monsieur Richmond, the Mayor, is the selfish, mean authority of the 3) _____, who hates gypsies. He has kept Quasimodo isolated in the bell tower and does not want him to leave the place or (4) _____ to anyone.

One day, Esmeralda, a (5) _____ girl who is escaping from the Captain of the Mayor's guard, hides in the cathedral and (6) _____ Quasimodo. Esmeralda and Quasimodo can't imagine this can change their lives forever. Quasimodo and his (7) _____, the gargoyle, immediately decide to help Esmeralda. When the gypsy girl knows about Quasimodo and his (8) _____ life, she decides to help him, no matter what the (9) _____ Mayor does to take away their freedom and happiness. But Phoebus, the Captain of the Guard of Paris, thinks he can change Esmeralda and Quasimodo's destiny with a little (10) _____. How does he help them?

Cathedral

city

friend

gipsy

talk

horrible

help

sad

story

meets