 My blog

My mom was 40 last Saturday so my dad organized a special birthday party for her. He invited all her friends and family. There were about 80 people there. Our house is very small, so we had the party in a large room at the local sports center. It was great!

A band called Rock On played the music. There are five members in the band. Two girls sang, one man played the guitar, another played the bass, and a boy played the drums. They aren't a famous band, and they don't have an album, but they were awesome! They performed a lot of songs from the 1980s when my mom and dad were at school.

My brother, Ted, plays the saxophone. He played Happy Birthday for Mom, and everyone sang for her. Dad took a lot of photos.

Mom spent all night dancing and chatting to people. At the end, she told us it was the best night of her life.
