Julia
@Julia12

Hi, this is Julia again! Yesterday we were talking about civet coffee. Today I'm going to tell you about another unusual food in the world. It is raw octopus. Last month I went to Korea, and some of my Korean friends introduced this dish to me. I didn't want to try it at first because it was terrible to see the pieces of octopus moving on the plate. However, I did try some and found it tasted wonderful. Although some of the pieces stuck in my throat, it was really tasty. That was when I understood why Koreans like it.

- _____ 1. How did Julia feel about raw octopus?
- (A) She dreamed of trying it before she went to Korea.
  - (B) She didn't want to eat it at first.
  - (C) She disliked its taste.
- _____ 2. What might Julia's blog be about?
- (A) Korean culture.
  - (B) Her cooking experiences.
  - (C) Strange foods around the world.
