

FEMINISM

Feminism, a belief in the political, economic and cultural equality of women, has roots in the earliest eras of human civilization. It is typically separated into three waves: first wave feminism, dealing with property rights and the right to vote; second wave feminism, focusing on equality and anti-discrimination, and third wave feminism, which started in the 1990s as a backlash to the second wave's perceived privileging of white, straight women.

From Ancient Greece to the fight for women's suffrage to women's marches and the #MeToo movement, the history of feminism is as long as it is fascinating.
