The FUNctional Classroom

Hello and thank you for downloading my product! I teach high school special education. My students have moderate to severe disabilities and they need daily practice in functional skills. Every morning, they work in their Morning Binder. This product is one of the lessons in their binders.

This practice job application provides plenty of room for them to write in the spaces, while giving them daily practice in recalling and writing their personal information. I hope your students enjoy this and improve their skills as much as my students have!
