READING

Read the passage and decide whether each statement is True or False. Write True or False in each blank. _____

Emojis

Getting the emojis you want can be a more serious problem than not finding exactly what you had for breakfast. Emojis do not always represent the people that use them. Instead of just cartoon-yellow people and faces, we now have the option for five different skin colors. Recent updates also included opposite gender pairs, so we have 'Mrs. Father Christmas', a smartly dressed 'man in tuxedo', as a partner for the bride, and a ‘dancing man’, to match the dancing lady. Soon there will be a redhead emoji, by popular demand, and a woman wearing a headscarf, after a German teenager Rayouf Alhumedhi finding for an emoji to represent her.

27. Finding a suitable emoji is easy.
28. Now we have five different skin color faces.
29. There is only Mr. Father Christmas.
30. A teenager found an emoji to represent her.

Choose the option that best completes each blank in the passage.
Write A, B, or C in the blank.

Sitting on the sofa, Anna is sending Lucy an (31)----- message. But Anna isn’t using real words or writing real sentences. Like other young people, they’re communicating with small, (32) ----- pictures – emojis.

You can find (33) ----- emoji T-shirts, posters, videos, stories and songs. Emojis are everywhere, but where are they from and why are they so popular?

The emoji inventor, Shigetaka Kurita, is from Japan, and ‘emoji’ in Japanese means picture (e) and letter (moji). Now over a thousand emojis with different skin colors show people and ideas from many (34) ----- , not only Japan. They are becoming a truly (35) ----- language.
