

Complete the article with the words in the box.

corporate websites - dating sites - news sites - personal homepage photo sharing website - search engine - social networking sites - travel sites - wiki

My place in cyberspace

The internet has become an important part of most people's everyday life. Businesses both big and small depend on their (1)_____ to make money and maintain their presence in a global market. We increasingly depend on the web to keep us in touch with the wider world and, with print newspaper sales decreasing, (2)_____ have become increasingly important. Our leisure time too has been shaped by the internet, with huge numbers of holidays booked through online (3)_____. Individuals too can create a (4)_____, or post memorable images on a (5)_____. Many people now keep in touch through (6)_____ and a recent study has predicted that in twenty years' time half of all relationships will start online. (7)_____ are big business today and have helped thousands of couples meet. From looking up information on a (8)_____, to adding your own information to a (9)_____, we both enjoy and contribute to cyberspace and this technology continues to shape our lives.