Types of Computers

Who Am I?

Read the clues in the clouds below. Then write the name of type of computer that matches the description

I am a computer that is used by everyone. You can find me by looking at some of your every-day appliances. I come in many different colors, shapes, and sizes.

I am the largest and most expensive computer. Large laboratories and governments use me. I am so fast and so powerful that I perform billions of instructions per second.

---

I am a computer that you can carry along with you on trips and adventures. I can be as small as your pinky or as big as your backpack.

---

I am a computer that is used to connect with other computers/ hardware (from 2 to thousands). You may find me in large companies.
