

flag	England	chips	Scotland	English breakfast
monster	Big Ben	kilts	Wales	Northern Ireland
sport	divided	Buckingham		English breakfast

The UK is _____ into Northern Ireland and Great Britain.

Men in Scotland wear skirts called _____.

Nessie is a _____ that lives in the lake Loch Ness.

Soccer is the most popular _____ in the UK.

Fish and _____ is typical food in England.

The _____ of the United Kingdom is called the Union Jack.

Great Britain is divided into _____, _____ and _____.

The capital of _____ is Belfast.

_____ is very big; there are eggs, sausages, beans and tomatoes.

The King lives in _____ Palace.

You can see _____ in London.

White House	states	baseball	bald eagle	Washington
California	city	Texas	»The Stars and Stripes«
hamburger	Native Americans (Indians)		Manhattan

There are 50 _____ in the USA.

The capital city of the USA is _____.

The typical food in the USA is a _____.

The flag of the USA is called _____.

_____ is a state in the USA.

The President of the USA lives in the _____.

The original or native people in the USA are called _____.

The largest _____ in the USA is New York.

_____ is the most popular sport in the USA.

Animal symbol of the USA is _____.

Los Angeles is a big city in _____.

_____ is a part of New York.

maple	Ottawa	ice hockey	syrup	beaver
Inuit	French

The capital of Canada is _____.

Native people in Canada are called _____ or Eskimos.

The most popular sport in Canada is _____.

There is a _____ leaf in Canadian flag.

People in Canada speak _____ and English.

A _____ is the symbol animal of Canada.

Pancakes with maple _____ are typical food in Canada.

Canberra	cricket	emu	the Aborigines	left	summer
----------	---------	-----	----------------	------	--------

The native people of Australia are called _____.

The capital city of Australia is _____.

_____ is a very popular sport in Australia.

A kangaroo and an _____ are symbol animals of Australia.

When it's winter in Slovenia, it's _____ in Australia.

People in Australia and in the UK drive on the _____.

Dublin	harp	»the Emerald Isle«
--------	------	--------------------

The capital of Ireland is _____.

The _____ is the national symbol of Ireland.

Ireland is called _____ because the countryside is very green.