WHOSE WAVE POWER IS IT?

Construction of the world's biggest wave energy installation is going ahead off the coast of Cornwall in southwest England. More than twenty-one million pounds' (1) _____ of funding has been agreed for what is (2) _____ as Wave Hub, a giant electrical terminal on the seabed then miles off the coast. Wave Hub will allow a number of different wave-energy devices operating in the area to transmit the energy they generate along a high-voltage undersea cable, back to the store.

Once it is in (3) _____ operation, Wave Hub is (4) _____ to support the largest concentration of wave-energy machines anywhere in the world. It will also mark an enormous (5) _____ forward in the development of wave power, which has tended to (6) _____ behind its cousins in the other main (7) _____ of renewable energy technology: wind power and solar power.

But surfers in the southwest have (8) _____ concerns about the project. Cornwall is Britain's principal surfing region (9) _____ of the size of the Atlantic rollers hitting the beaches there, and surfers are concerned that the energy taken from the waves may (10) _____ in a reduction of as much as eleven percent in the height of those waves when they (11) _____ the shore. But an independent study reported this week that any effect on wave height will probably be much less than the surfers had (12) _____.
