With it being the summer holidays for many times, it's a perfect time to start experimenting with one's personal style. A big part of one's style is makeup, which can be used as a powerful form of self-expression. One's makeup can show their aesthetic and shape how others view them. Those who are masters of this art can create looks that are an inspiration to other beginners.

However, every single professional makeup artist started off as a beginner, and they worked on their skills until they perfected the basics. For beginners, there are so many resources online which can help you get started. This article will hopefully simplify the basics of what one would need as one starts their makeup journey.

STEP 1: Skincare

Make sure that your skin is clear and is a blank canvas for whatever art you create on top of it. This often means washing your faces and doing your skincare routine. This routine can be as simple or complicated as you'd like. The steps that everyone should do are:

1. Wash your face with a cleanser
2. Moisturize
3. Apply sunscreen liberally
