THE BROWN EYES.

When Mike first saw Nancy he didn't understand why he was so attracted _____ (1) her appearance. There was nothing unusual in her: a slender dark skinned girl, a little shy, but strong and resolute in words and actions. She was not like _____ (2) girls in the class. She was brave and was eager to learn everything new.

Being beside her was _____ (3) so great! She was a good mixer and it seemed that there was no topic she couldn't talk on. She was rather strong and it was sometimes hard to catch up _____ (4) her in running. When they were going camping, they had to walk about six _____ (5) and she was not at all tired, or at least she didn't look it.

Mike noticed that the more time she was near the _____ (6) he realized that he couldn't imagine the class without her. There was something magic in the way she spoke. Her gestures were like nothing _____ (7) on earth — so graceful and Mike liked watching her when she didn't see it.

It was the day when he was watching her talk to the other girls and when she began to turn round. Something _____ (8) to Mike and when she looked at him, he couldn't take his eyes off her. He understood that she _____ (9) certainly meet his look and find out everything, but he could do nothing, and she looked at him... Her eyes were brown... They were deep and tender. She smiled and her eyes smiled too. For a moment, the light faded for Mike and he saw _____ (10) that smiling look. He couldn't hear anything: all the world around him turned silent. It seemed to Mike that the time had stopped. He didn't hear his friend John trying to tell him something. He was just sinking into those unbelievable brown eyes...
