Ithaa, a Fascinating Restaurant in the Maldives

The Maldives is a group of over 1,000 islands in the Indian Ocean and is one of the world's favourite tourist destinations. You don't have to be rich to go there either; there is a variety of accommodation options to suit everyone. Some visitors choose to stay on one of the 200 inhabited islands and enjoy the local life, but others prefer to stay on one of the uninhabited islands which have been made into expensive luxury resorts. No matter where they stay, however, every visitor can sunbathe on white sandy beaches, do a variety of water sports in turquoise waters and enjoy, in my opinion, the most delicious local cuisine in the world.

Travellers who are looking for a very special experience can stay at the Conrad hotel on the unpopulated Rangali Island and dine at Ithaa, the world's first restaurant that is completely under the water. The building of the Ithaa restaurant began in Singapore in May 2004. When the work was finished in October 2004, it was put onto a big boat and moved to Rangali Island. On November 1, 2004, Ithaa was lowered five metres below sea level and in April 2005, it opened its doors to the public for lunch, dinner and cocktails.

Through its glass walls and ceiling, every guest at Ithaa has a panoramic view of sea life. While they are eating or drinking a cocktail, guests can watch colourful fish, sharks and turtles swimming around the restaurant. Unfortunately, Ithaa's limited space allows up to fourteen people at a time and children are welcome only at lunch time. It is also expensive to eat at Ithaa; for example, the cheapest lunch is about 170 Euros per person while dinner starts at around 280 Euros per person. For a cheaper option, guests can have just a glass of wine or a cocktail for 60 Euros per person.

Despite the high prices, the number of guests who want to eat at this unusual restaurant is large so booking a table is necessary. The people who stay at the Conrad hotel are given a table first, but any tables that are left can be booked by guests on other islands. Guests at Ithaa can dine wearing shorts and T-shirts, but they are encouraged to go inside the restaurant barefoot. As it is a romantic place, Ithaa is also the perfect place for weddings and anniversary celebrations, though the number of guests is still limited.

The Advantages and Disadvantages of Using Digital Technology in School

The Advantages of Digital Technology in School

Digital technology can make teaching and learning much more successful. To start with, the Internet has a lot of electronic libraries where both students and teachers can download books and articles for free or at little cost. There are also a lot of online bookstores from which students can download any schoolbook they want and save it on their tablet or laptop. In doing so, they not only spend less money on books, but they also carry fewer books to school.

There is also a lot of useful digital technology that teachers can use in the classroom to make their lessons more fun and easier, too. For example, they can use materials such as videos, pictures or games to explain their lesson. Absent students can get their homework through emails or Facebook. Teachers can also provide students with notes for each lesson electronically, so students don't have to write down notes in class. This will help them to understand the lesson and will also encourage them to learn more, making them better students.

The more learning opportunities students have, the better they will be prepared for the future. In my opinion, digital technology in the classroom can offer them such opportunities.

9. What is TRUE according to the 1st paragraph?
   A. Online bookstores sell books at high prices.
   B. All books from electronic libraries are free.
   C. Students can save money on books by downloading them.

10. What does the word 'they' refer to in the 2nd paragraph?
   A. tools
   B. lessons
   C. teachers

11. According to the 2nd paragraph, the author recommends that teachers
   A. use technology to help students take notes during class.
   B. take advantage of digital technology to make their lessons clearer.
   C. encourage students to use Facebook in the classroom.

12. According to the last paragraph, what does the author say about using digital technology in the classroom?
   A. He finds it helpful.
   B. He is against it.
   C. He does not say.
