

When something so near and dear to explodes inside

You your soul is set on fire

When something so deep and so far and wide down beside

Your cries can be heard so and clear, oh

Your life is your.....

You're in charge of yourself

Master of your

In the end

You to face it all alone

When something so dear to yourexplodes inside

You your soul is burned alive

When something so deep and so far and wide down beside

Your cries can be heard soand clear

When the has lost its glow
