Citayam Fashion Week

Nowadays, we often see some teenagers with popular outfits on social media. Bonge, Jeje, and Roy are familiar names that can relate to this phenomenon. They are the new trendsetter for our teenage generation. Based on their instant popularity, they have a good impact and a bad impact on our teenage generation.

Thesis

In my opinion, they can give more bad effects on our generation. For their age, they should come to school and take good education for their future. In reality, they don't want to learn in school because they just want money to help their parent's economy.

Argument 1

On the contrary, they can also give a good effect in Jakarta city, especially on Sudirman Street. We know that Sudirman Street is an elite street. This street is a street for the rich only. But, with their appearance, Sudirman Street becomes more egalitarian. Every people, especially the poor people from Jakarta, can reach this Street and make this street a "space of equality".

Argument 2

That's all my insight about Citayam Fashion Week. I think they have a positive and negative impact. But, as a student, we should know that education is really important for our future. That is why we should never give attention to their way that doesn't want to learn in school.
