

Complete the gaps with the right words:

consistent

inconsiderate

indecisive

immature

logical responsible

- A: Jim is 40 years old and watches cartoons.
B: I know. He really is immature.
- A: I can't make up my mind. Which tie looks better?
B: Don't be so indecisive. Just choose one.
- A: Why did Meredith buy such a large car with gas prices so high?
B: I know it doesn't seem logical, but she needed a big car for her catering business.
- A: Doesn't Allison look great? What is she doing to lose weight?
B: She's been eating healthy and exercising on a consistent basis.
- B: I don't like how e-mail is changing the way people communicate.
A: I know. Inconsiderate e-mails can really hurt someone's feelings.
- A: I really like the new waiter you hired. He's very polite and dependable.
B: Yes, he is. Even though he's young, he's quite responsible.