

Three is a Lucky Number

(pages 1~3)

Correct the wrong information. Some sentences have no mistakes.

1. Ronald Torbay was a serial killer.

2. He had already killed three wives.

3. All his murders took place in the bathroom.

4. He made a living by getting his dead wives' inheritance.

5. He was in his thirties, with a narrow straight nose which he hated.

6. He chose his victims by their appearance.

7. The police had declared his first wife's death as accidental.

8. His second wife's sister had claimed her inheritance and had won the case.

9. Ronald had met Edyth at a skiing resort.

10. Edyth had had to give up her job in a shop to look after her sick mother.

11. After the wedding, they had made a will leaving their property to each other.

12. Ronald postponed Edyth's death because he liked her.

13. Edyth kept her legal papers in a locked chest.

14. She insisted on visiting her husband's workplace.

15. Ronald calmly prepared Edyth's deadly bath.