Part IV – Reading

G. Read the text and make questions.

When I was 16 years old I went to the United States: I was a student then and that was the first time I left home.

I went to Boston to live with an American family for two months only. How exciting! - I thought. How scared I felt! But I went all the same.

One of the things I remember quite clearly was my arrival: to start with, I missed the train from New York to Boston! That was trouble, although the family was there to greet me.

When I arrived at the family house, I lost my voice, so nervous I felt. For three days I did not say a word. Now I know that was an unconscious way to get familiar with the English they spoke.

Fortunately, after one week I felt more confident, I started to speak a little and the people in the house began to understand me.

How nice and enjoyable the second week was!

The big morning breakfast, a snack at lunch time and early dinner at 6:00 p.m. became a routine. The shops were interesting, the vanilla ice-cream was wonderful, the sports were attractive and in a short time new friends were like the old ones.

This experience was unforgettable!

1)- _____

She went to Boston, in the U.S.A.

2)- _____

She was sixteen.

3)- _____

she was excited scared.

4)- _____

No, she didn't stay in a hotel. She stayed in a American family house.

5)- _____

The second week was nice and enjoyable.

6)- _____

Yes, she liked the experience a lot.
