Answer True, False or Not Given.

- 1 The candles on the cake often represent your age.
- 2 Everyone has a party on their birthday.
- 3 Presents are often given on birthdays.
- 4 Everyone likes birthdays.
- 5 Birthdays are celebrated differently around the world.

CHINESE FESTIVALS

If I could visit any country to be a part of their celebrations and festivals, it would be China. China is home to some of the most beautiful celebrations on the planet – celebrations filled with colour and meaning.

DRAGON BOAT RACING

The Dragon Boat festival, also known as the Duanwu Festival, has been celebrated in China for more than 2,000 years. The festival occurs on the fifth day of the fifth month of the Chinese lunar calendar. The celebration emerged after the Chinese scholar, Qu Yuan, threw himself into the Mi Lo river in protest against the government of the time. Qu Yuan was drowned and the people were unable to find the body, so to prevent the fish from eating him, the locals threw rice patties into the river. Ever since then, rice dumplings or zongzi are prepared and eaten during this festival season. Other activities include drinking a special drink called realgar and dragon-boat racing to the sound of beating drums.

HARBIN ICE AND SNOW FESTIVAL

Another spectacular festival hosted by the Chinese is the Harbin Ice and Snow Festival. This is an annual winter festival which takes place in Harbin, Heilongjiang, China, and is now the largest ice and snow festival in the world. Initially, the majority of participants were Chinese, but it has since become an international festival and competition. The festival includes the world's biggest ice sculptures. Officially, the festival starts on 5th January and lasts for one month. However, exhibits often open earlier and finish later, weather permitting. The ice sculptures are displayed throughout the city.

LANTERN RIDDLES

Also in January there is the Lantern Festival, or the Shangyuan Festival, which is celebrated on 15th January of the Chinese lunar calendar. This festival marks the return of spring and is regarded as a day for appreciating family and the bright full moon. There are several different activities involved in this celebration, appealing to all age groups. These include: watching fireworks or solving the riddles* featured on the lanterns.

CHINESE NEW YEAR

By far the biggest celebration in the Chinese calendar, however, is Chinese New Year. In fact, the lantern festival signifies the end of this long celebration, which begins on Chinese New Year's Eve. It is a holiday filled with dragons, fireworks, symbolic clothing and flowers. Chinese New Year is a time for families to get together. The New Year's Eve dinner is called Reunion Dinner, and is believed to be the most important meal of the year. Families of several generations sit together, enjoying food and socialising.

Read the information A–G about different educational institutions in the UK. Listen again and write A–G in the table to show the correct information for each type of education.

- A This is usually the first time students become completely independent. It's normal in the UK for these students to study in places a long way from their homes.
- B You can take courses in all kinds of subjects, usually after work or at the weekend. The courses are usually quite cheap.
- C The purpose of a vocational course is to prepare students for work in a certain profession, like hairdressing or car mechanics.
- D Students no longer study in one classroom, but have to go to different classrooms depending on the subjects that they are studying.
- E Parents can choose to send their children here. Many places are free, but parents often have to pay.
- F When children are required to start full-time education, the majority of them go to this institution.
- G Although students can prepare to pass exams for university entry at their schools, they can also choose to go to this special institution for two years.
