

- a) You need someone to repeat the underlined information (you did not hear it well). Ask a wh- question to find out the information. The answer must be the underlined part.

1. The mouse is in that box.
2. The videoconference is at two o'clock.
3. The computer is out of order because it has a virus.
4. Those computers are five years old.
5. This router is John's.
6. Bill Gates is the president of Microsoft.
7. The black PC is the most expensive.
(The answer to your question would be "The black one").
8. Two companies are interested in our new processor.
9. That monitor is £129.
10. The next meeting is on Tuesday.