A Mouse and Mr. Farmer

One day, Mouse Deer went to the edge of the forest. He looked out at row of vegetables. “Mmm”, said Mouse Deer. “Juicy cucumbers! Yummy yams!” he started into the garden.

Mouse Deer loved to eat the fruits and roots and shoots of the forest. But he loved something else even more. He loved the vegetables in Mr. Farmer’s Garden. Snap! “oh!”

His leg was caught in a snare! Mouse Deer pulled and pulled. But he could not get away. “Oh, no!” he said. “Mr. Farmer will have me for dinner!” Then he saw Mr. Farmer coming. Mouse Deer thought fast. He lay on the ground and made his body stiff.

Mouse Deer laughed. “Mr. Farmer is smart, but Mouse Deer is smarter.” “Well, well”, said Mr. Farmer. “Look what I caught. A mouse deer! But he looks dead.” Mr. farmer pushed him with his foot. Mouse Deer didn’t move. “Maybe he’s been dead a long time,” said Mr. Farmer. “Too bad! I guess we can’t eat him,”

He pulled Mouse Deer’s leg out of the snare. Then he tossed Mouse Deer back into the forest. Mouse Deer landed with a soft plop. Then he jumped up and ran. Behind him, he heard Mr. Farmer yelled, “hey, you trick me!”

Little Red Riding Hood

Once upon a time there lived a little country girl, the (1) creature who was ever seen. Her mother had a little red riding hood made for her. Everybody called her Little Red Riding Hood.

One day her mother said to her, “go my dear, and see how your grandmother is doing, for I hear she has been very ill.” Little Red Riding Hood set out immediately.

As she was going through the wood, she met with a wolf. He asked her where she was going. “I am going to see my grandmother.” “Does she live far off?” said the wolf. “It is beyond that mill you see there”.

It was not long before the wolf arrived at the old woman’s house. He knocked at the door. Tap, tap, tap. “who’s there? “Your grandchild, Little Red Riding Hood”, replied the wolf, faking her voice. The good grandmother called out, “Pull the string, and the latch will go up.”

The wolf pulled the string and the door opened, and then he immediately fell upon the good woman and (2) her up in a moment. He then shut the door and got into the grandmother’s bed, expecting Little Red Riding Hood, who came some time afterwards and knocked at the door. Tap, tap, tap. “Who’s there?” “It is your grandchild, Little Red Riding Hood.”

The wolf cried out, “Pull the string, and the latch will go up.” Little Red Riding Hood pulled the string, and the door opened. “Grandmother, what big arms you have!” “All the better to (3) you with, my dear.”

“Grandmother, what big ears you have!” “All the better to hear you with, my child” “Grandmother, what big eyes you have!” “All the better to see you with, my child”. “Grandmother, what big (4) you have got!” “All the better to eat you up with.”

Fortunately, a hunter was passing near by the hunt. He heard the wolf, and recognized him right away. He ran over to the window. He took a good aim, and that was the end of the wolf.
