A Picnic

Last Sunday we went (0) to a Picnic at Pantai Timur. It was a sunny day and there (9) was many people. We saw some (10) child flying their kites and playing volleyballs. After we found a place to put our things, my sister and I jumped into the sea while my mother was (11) watched. The water was warm and it was nice to swim. After an hour, we felt (12) hungrily. We went back to the beach (13) or ate the delicious food my mother prepared. We finished all the fried noodle and chicken wings. Also, we (14) have fun singing and chatting together after that. One of the most exciting (15) thing there was to feed the birds with our bread. We had a lot of fun laughing together. I think it was the (16) good day of the year.

Part 3Read the text below and answer questions 17 - 24.TEEN DAYS OUT in the UK*Blue Planet Aquarium

If you're aged 8 – 15, like sharks and are good at swimming, this is the place for you. I always swimming on Saturdays, but this weekend I'm not going to the sports centre. After a diving lesson at the aquarium, I'm going swimming with real sharks! The sharks aren't very big and they aren't dangerous. But your friends won't know that! Visiting the aquarium is quite expensive, but it's a good idea for a birthday present.

Magic Unicorn Theme Park

Unicorns are magical animals from legends, but this theme park isn't very magical. The rides and rollercoasters are OK, but nothing special. The only bit my friends and I like is the Magic Spell Academy, where they teach you to do magic tricks. We're not really enjoying our trip! ☺ ☺ ☺

#Teen rating

"Daniel, 14, Glasgow"

Beamish, The living museum of the North

Beamish is a 'living' museum. Instead of looking at old things, I'm actually experiencing life in the past! You can have a lesson at the village school, buy things in the old-fashioned shops and learn how to cook traditional food. I usually hate museums, but Beamish is different!

#Teen rating ☺ ☺ ☺ ☺

"Daisy, 14, Durham"

Giant Swing Adrenaline Quarry

This isn't like swings you find in children's playgrounds. It's very high and scary! I didn't think this would be so much fun, its better than a rollercoaster! You feel as if you are flying! The only problem is that it doesn't last very long.

#Teen rating

"Anna, 15, Cardiff"

My best friend

Friends are important to us. We do not need too many friends but a few great friends makes a huge difference in our lives. I have such a good friend in my life. Her name is Lily and we go to the same school. Although we are the same age, we do not learn in the same class. Her class is one floor below mine because we have different interests in studies. I love science and she loves history.

Lily has a good sense of humour. She always makes me smile when I am down. She sometimes makes jokes that I can laugh so hard my stomach hurts. She is the most hardworking person I know and she is never selfish in sharing what she knows. Her knowledge in world history is amazing. She dreams to become a history journalist one day.

Lily and I live in the same neighbourhood. Every morning, we take the school bus together to go to school. Sometimes, my mother would make two packed meals to give one to Lily. We would eat together during the school break. I can eat a lot. So when Lily cannot finish her meal I would be the first to take her food. She always jokes that I might become a teddy bear if I keep eating so much.

Another reason Lily and I become so close is because we share the same love for netball. We both play for the school netball team and we train three times a week after school. Lily is recently chosen as the team captain. Coach likes that she is a fair person. One time I was late for training, she made me run five rounds around the court as punishment even though we are close friends. Besides, she trains hard and always communicate with us during games.

I am grateful because I have a good friend. Lily has been like a sister to me. I cannot imagine my life without her.
