Hotel on Fire

One of the most famous hotels in Penang was on fire yesterday. The fire was noticed at midnight by Mr Lee who was walking to the hotel for a check-in. 'I was shocked so I reported the incident to the fire brigade immediately,' said Mr Lee.

He then informed the hotel manager at the lobby to evacuate everyone. Just then, Puan Nina, who is expecting a child was sleeping in her room when she heard the fire alarm. 'I was so terrified that I almost fainted,' said Puan Nina. It was her husband who carried me down the stairs with the other guests. 'The stairway was dimly lit with the emergency light. I could hardly see as I forgot to grab my glasses during the escape,' said Puan Nina's husband, Encik Mohan.

The fire was spreading quickly and the restaurant of the hotel was already engulfed in massive flames when the fire engine arrived. 'Fortunately, all the hotel personnel and guests were safely evacuated so there were no injuries,' said the firefighter, Encik Saiful. Puan Nina was sent to hospital. The doctors kept Puan Nina in hospital for 24 hours to check that she was all right before allowing her to go home the next morning. After investigation, it was reported that gas leakage was the cause of the tragedy.

For each question, choose the correct answer

Bad Weather
A	Cindy I come from the north of Finland. We like the snow there but the snowstorm hit us very bad one year. That morning, the snow was as high as the house when we woke up. Our car and garden were covered in snow. We didn't have any electricity. We had to live in dark and cold as we couldn't open our front door. Luckily, we were prepared. We had a radio with batteries, torches and warm clothes. I was calmed, but I remembered my mum and dad were very worried that day.
B	Amina My family and I often go sailing during summer. We always check the weather forecast before sailing to make sure it is sunny. At first, everything went well. It was a sunny day, so we decided to take the boat out. All of a sudden, it started to rain. The wind was strong and the sea became very rough. Our boat was hit by the waves violently that I thought the boat would overturn. Luckily, after a few hours the storm passed, but it was the scariest day of my life.
C	Shanti I live in a city. We used to have heavy rains but the weather has never gone extremely bad. However, something strange happened last week. I was about to go to school as usual when I heard the rain patter on the roof. However, I soon realised it was not raindrops but ice balls falling from the sky. My mom told me it was called 'hail'. It was too dangerous so I stayed at home. The windshield of our car was broken, but luckily nobody was hurt.

A	Cindy
B	Amina
C	Shanti
