Oliver:	So, how _____ it go? Did you _____ ?
Alfie:	No, I _____ again!
Oliver:	I don't _____ it! How did you fail again? What _____ this time?
Alfie:	You won't believe it!
Oliver:	No? No way, Alfie, not the same as _____ time?
Alfie:	Yep.
Oliver:	No way! Not another _____ ?
Alfie:	I know! I'm in shock! I _____ cats!
Oliver:	So, what happened?
Alfie:	Well, I stopped at a _____ crossing to let an old man _____ the road. No problem there. He walked across the road so I _____ to drive. Just then a cat appeared _____ nowhere!
Oliver:	_____ you hit it?
Alfie:	I did. It was impossible to _____ .
Oliver:	I don't believe you, Alfie. You're joking, aren't you? You didn't fail, did you? Nobody can kill _____ cats on two driving tests!
Alfie:	What can I say? I know - it's totally crazy. The _____ of the cat arrived.
Oliver:	Oh no. And?
Alfie:	Well, he said it wasn't my fault, the cat escaped from the _____. The driving instructor agreed too. So, we carried on with the test, but I was too _____ and I crossed a red traffic light.
Oliver:	Poor you, mate! Do you want to come over?
Alfie:	Yeah, OK. See you in _____ minutes.
