Welcome to London!

Here are some ideas of places to visit on your day out ...

Covent Garden
There's a big market at Covent Garden, but there isn't a garden! You can buy all kinds of presents and souvenirs. There are also some nice shops and cafés here.

Museums
At the British Museum, there are some amazing Egyptian mummies. But if you want to see dinosaurs, go to the Natural History Museum. There's a big dinosaur gallery there.

Harrods
Harrods is a famous department store. It's got 330 different departments, including an enormous supermarket. You can have lunch here – there are 18 bars and restaurants. There's even a traditional English pub!

The Globe
The Globe is a modern version of Shakespeare's theatre. It's similar to the original theatre from 1599. It's next to the River Thames.

Trafalgar Square
In the middle of Trafalgar Square, there's a statue of Admiral Nelson. It's called 'Nelson's Column' and it's 56 metres tall. The National Gallery is next to Trafalgar Square.

Buckingham Palace
The Queen sometimes lives at Buckingham Palace, opposite St James's Park. There are 775 rooms in the Palace, but you can't visit all of them!

1.Covent Garden is a big garden / market.
2.Harrods is a big department store/ stadium.
3.The Queen sometimes lives at Buckingham Palace / Tower of London.
4.We can see Egyptian mummies at the National History Museum / the British Museum.
5.The Globe is a cathedral / theatre.
6.The National Gallery is next to Trafalgar Square/ bus station.

LIVEWORKSHEETS