Hello John.

I hope this email finds you well. I'm afraid I'm quite the contrary. I am actually writing to tell you that I have broken up with Estela, my fiancée. I am devastated! Just two weeks before the wedding, I found out she was cheating on me with Mike, my brother! How horrible is that? I guess the only positive thing is that I discovered them before the wedding; I wouldn't have been able to bear with such a thing after having gone through the ceremony.

I feel devastated! What can I do now? I still love her and my brother but I can't, I simply can't forgive them. This is a horrible situation. What would you do in my place?

Well, I have to go now. I wish you wouldn't have to cancel your flight and hotel booking. I am really sorry! I really wanted us to meet.

Please, reply soon. I truly need a shoulder to cry on.

Your friend,
Peter.
