If you're thinking of having a holiday or travelling somewhere nice, the planning can be complicated. The internet is full of reviews of hotels, restaurants, and attractions. There are so many different ways of travelling, and thousands of places to go. Where do you start? Why not follow these 1) _____ simple steps to find the right holiday for you?

Step one. Think about what you want 2) _____ on your holiday. The first thing people usually try to decide is where they want to go, but it's probably better to start by thinking about what you want to do.

Do you want to relax? Then think about how you relax. For example, do you like reading or doing yoga, or do you like doing something 3) _____ active? Do you want to go somewhere completely different? Do you want to visit an exciting new city, or see some 4) _____ and animals that are different from where you live? Seeing something completely new is a great way to forget about your normal life. Do you want to have an adventure? Perhaps you're dreaming about climbing Everest or living with an African tribe. You could use your holiday to 5) _____ one of those dreams come true.

Do you want to learn something new? Not everybody wants to sit in a classroom learning Spanish, or be in a kitchen learning to cook when they're on holiday, but some people love it. And nowadays you can do courses in many countries and experience a different 6) _____ at the same time.

So now step two. Think about the people you're going to go with. Are they family or friends? Do they have children? What do they want to do? People have different needs and interests, and if you're all going to enjoy the holiday, you need to make sure you all want the same things. But if what you really want to do is to meet new people, perhaps it would be better to travel alone.

And finally, step three. Think about good holidays you had in the past. Why were they good? Perhaps it was the people you were with. Perhaps it was something you learned, or an 7) _____ you had. What can you repeat from those holidays?

Of course, there are always other things you need to consider, like how much money you can spend, and how much 8) _____ you can be away. But first follow these three steps, and then you're ready to start thinking about where you want to go!
