One day Kyai Pasir went to the forests around Mt Lawu to open fields and rice paddies. After arriving at the site is considered suitable Kyai Pasir started clearing the field by removing trees and shrubs that is in place.

Arriving at the house Kyai Pasir directly to his wife's eggs to be cooked. The wife then boiled and split into two parts, half to himself and half to Kyai Pasir.

A few minutes later, the magic suddenly their bodies begin to change into a dragon, a huge, disgruntled, and it was scary. The two people who had been turned into a dragon was still rolling here and there, causing the surrounding land to be scattered and formed a large basin increasingly broad and deep, and a basin that eventually became a lake by the surrounding community called Telaga Pasir.

Lawu forest area used to live a couple who named Kyai Pasir and Nyai Pasir. They lived in a simple hut walled and roofed wooden leaves around the slopes of the volcano.

At the time of going to cut down a large tree, Kyai Pasir surprised to see there was an egg around the roots. He studied it for a while egg wonder, "why no eggs in this place, but not for a bird was hanging around". Without thinking anymore, Kyai Pasir immediately took the egg to take home and given to his wife.

Not long after the mysterious egg devour Kyai Pasir and Nyai Pasir and her body felt uncomfortable. Their body felt hot, dizzy eyes, and sweating profusely. They reflexively immediately rolled on the ground that the pain subsides soon. However, the more they rolled pain sudden increase.
