Dan and May decided to go camping in the mountains. As soon as they arrived at the campsite, they pitched their tent and quickly put all their belongings inside.

When they were ready, Dan suggested they went hiking. May agreed and put her hiking boots on. They have prepared a backpack in advance with all the necessary things inside – a map of the region, compass, some repellent against insects, binoculars and some other goods. Dan even had an axe to help him collect some wood for the campfire.

By the time they decided to return to the campsite, the sun has begun to set, so they used their torch on the way back. It was quite cold in the forest. Luckily, they had their matching anoraks.

Dan arranged the wood in the campfire and May helped by lighting it using a few matches. They enjoyed their dinner wrapped up in a cozy blanket. By midnight they were already in their warm sleeping bags resting for the upcoming day.
