My favourite activity used to be shopping. It started when I was a school girl and I worked in a clothes shop. At that time I had a staff discount in the shop and I used to spend all the money I had earned on clothes. I continued spending all my money on clothes when I got a job in an office, and I couldn't stop that habit even after I got married, bought a house and had children!

Every weekend I went shopping and I might use about $600 a month for clothes. I went shopping whenever I liked even when I wasn't very happy, or when I was so glad. Sometimes I spent whole week looking for what I wanted. Other times I'd just buy the thing I saw for the first time.

Most of the things I bought I didn't really need. One day I bought three bags, even though I already had other ten at home. I never even took the most expensive one out of the box!

One day when my four-year-old boy looked into my wardrobe and asked me why I had so many dresses, I suddenly realized I had a problem. I started to count and found that I had sixty five dresses, and I must have spent thousands of dollars on them. I couldn't believe what I've done.

Immediately, I threw away my credit card. Then I gave away all the clothes that I'd never worn. After that I made plans to visit friends or travel somewhere at weekend, so I wouldn't be able to go shopping. Now I'm happy because I'm not shopaholic any more.

- 31. The author began to like shopping when she got a job in a clothes shop.
- 32. After she got married, she managed to stop spending too much money on clothes.
- 33. Sometimes she bought things she already had no matter how she felt.
- 34. When she realized she had a problem, she was angry with herself.
- 35. Now she can't go shopping because she has spent all the money.
