聽力練習 01

ANS

	Chinese mythology	Greek mythology
Similarities	1. Human beings are created in the shape of _____. 2. It is not uncommon for _____.
Differences	1. Chinese gods are holy. 2. Chinese gods are free from _____.	1. Greek gods represent human beings. 2. Greek gods may _____.

( ) (1) (A) How to do research on mythology.
(B) A comparison and contrast of mythology.
(C) The development of mythology.
(D) Whether gods are good or not.

( ) (2) (A) A college professor.
(B) A Chinese cook.
(C) An engineer.
(D) A Greek god.

( ) (3) (A) Reading a book to find more information.
(B) Watching a TV program about mythology.
(C) Asking a librarian for more details.
(D) Spending time doing research online.

( ) (4) (A) Where people go after they die.
(B) How people are created.
(C) Whom gods may marry.
(D) Whether gods are similar to humans.

聽力練習 02

ANS:

The Process of Naming a Planet

1. A temporary name is given by _____ and it consists of _____ and two letters.
2. Then, a permanent _____ is issued when the _____ of this new planet is confirmed.
3. _____ will be invited to suggest a name. The rules are as follows:
   3-1. _____ word no longer than _____ characters.
   3-2. _____ names or names of commercial entities are not allowed.
   3-3. Names should not be _____.

( ) (1) (A) The discoverer of a new planet can name it whatever he or she likes.
(B) The process can take years before a new planet receives its name.
(C) The MPC is the organization which gives out the final names for new planets.
(D) A permanent number will be given as soon as a new planet is spotted.

( ) (2) (A) 1988CR
(B) 2018EC60
(C) Nachtwacht
(D) 41236

( ) (3) (A) Prometheus.
(B) Captain Furry Boots.
(C) Microsoft.
(D) The Black Panther of Wakanda.

( ) (4) (A) 1
(B) 2
(C) 3
(D) 4

LIVEWORKSHEETS