Samantha had been feeling 1. _____ for weeks. She was working long hours at her job and her boss was constantly piling more tasks on her plate. On top of that, she had just received some disappointing news - her vacation request had been denied. Samantha had been planning a trip for months and now she was feeling 2. _____ that it wasn't going to happen.

One day, Samantha was walking home from work feeling 3. _____ when she heard a 4. _____ melody coming from a street musician. She stopped and listened for a moment, and was 5. _____ by the musician's talent. Suddenly, she felt a wave of relaxation wash over her. For a few moments, she forgot about all her stress and worries.

But then, as she continued walking, a man jumped out from an alley and demanded her purse. Samantha was 6. _____ and didn't know what to do. She felt 7. _____ and frozen in place, until a police officer appeared and chased the man away. After the incident, Samantha sat on a nearby bench, trying to catch her breath. She was 8. _____ that she had just experienced an attempted robbery. Despite the scare, Samantha was now feeling more 9. _____ than she had in weeks. She realized that sometimes it takes a frightening experience to remind us of the things that truly matter in life. She decided to book a spa day for herself, which left her feeling even more 10. _____ and 11. _____. She was no longer feeling 12. _____ or 13. _____ about her vacation plans falling through - she knew that there were other ways to take care of herself and enjoy life.
