Music genres

1. Guess what genre of music they're talking about?

Interview Nº1

Interviewer: Hi there! Can you tell us a bit about your music?
Musician: Sure thing! I play in a band with drums, bass, and two electric guitars. We like to crank up the volume and let loose with some big, riff-heavy songs. We love the energy of this type of music and how it gets people moving and feeling alive. It's just pure, unadulterated music!
Interviewer: Wow, that sounds awesome! It sounds like you really love playing this type of music.
Musician: Absolutely! We're all about that classic sound, but we also like to put our own spin on things and keep it fresh. We try to write songs that people can relate to and really feel, while also giving them a good time and making them want to dance.
Interviewer: Well, it definitely sounds like you're doing something right. Keep it up!
Musician: Will do! Thanks for having me.

Interview Nº2

Interviewer: Can you tell us a bit about your music and how you got started?
Musician: Sure, I come from a small town in the middle of nowhere and my music is a reflection of my roots. I play a lot of acoustic guitar and fiddle, and my songs are all about storytelling. I try to capture the essence of everyday life and the struggles that people face, whether it's love or loss, hope or heartbreak. My music is about connecting with people and bringing them together through shared experiences.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Interview Nº3

Interviewer: Can you tell us about the instruments you typically use in your music?

Musician: Well, I usually play the piano or the violin. Sometimes I'll use a cello or a flute as well, depending on the piece.

Interviewer: That's interesting. And how do you go about composing your music?

Musician: I take inspiration from a lot of different sources - nature, literature, and other musical works. From there, I try to create something that speaks to me personally and hopefully resonates with my audience.

Interview Nº4

Interviewer: So, can you tell us a little about your music style and how you create your tracks?

Musician: Sure, I love to experiment with different sounds and rhythms. I use a lot of synthesizers and drum machines to create my music. It's all about creating a unique sound and using technology to take the listener on a journey. I love to play around with different tempos and layering different sounds to create something that's both energetic and emotional.

Interview Nº5

Interviewer: Can you tell us a bit about your music?

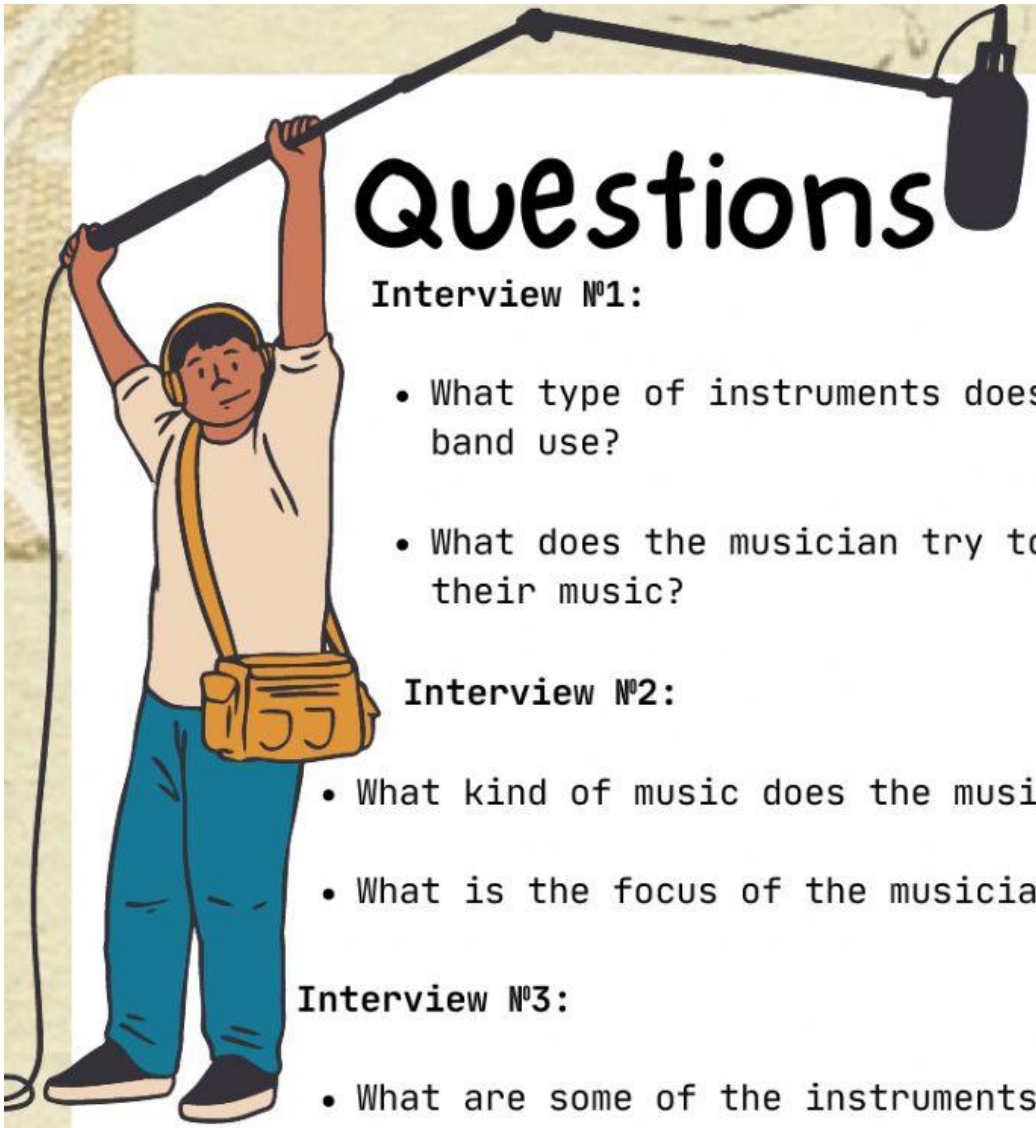

Musician: Sure, my music is heavily influenced by traditional songs and melodies from various regions.

Interviewer: That sounds interesting. Can you tell us more about the instruments you use in your performances?

Musician: Of course, I mainly play acoustic guitar and incorporate different types of strings, such as banjo or mandolin, to add texture to the sound.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Questions

Interview Nº1:

- What type of instruments does the musician's band use?
- What does the musician try to achieve with their music?

Interview Nº2:

- What kind of music does the musician play?
- What is the focus of the musician's songwriting?

Interview Nº3:

- What are some of the instruments the musician typically uses?
- What inspires the musician when composing their music?

Interview Nº4:

- What type of instruments does the musician primarily use to create their music?
- What is the musician's goal when creating their tracks?

Interview Nº5:

- What are some of the influences on the musician's music?
- What are some of the instruments the musician uses in their performances?

LIVEWORKSHEETS