My favourite film of the year was Detective Will Herd 2. This is what happened in the most exciting scene of the film.

The thieves were running after Detective Herd. He had to jump off a really high building to escape because he jumped onto a lorry, which was full of black plastic bags, but the bodied got onto a motorbike and started to follow him. The motorbike was much faster so it wasn't long before it was next to the lorry on the road. One of the thieves was trying to climb up the side of the lorry when Herd jumped off it and was the back of the motorbike. The driver and Herd were fighting as they went over a bridge. Then Herd pushed the driver off the motorbike into the river. After that he quickly stopped the bike before hit a bus. Next he called another police officer on his mobile and pulled the thief out of the river. He said, "Water you doing here?" Everybody laughed.

Write it right!

Reviews

- When we write a story, we think about what happened, where and when it happened and who was there. For this we use verbs in the past simple.
- Then we describe what was happening at the same time. For this we use verbs in the past continuous.
- To make the story easy to understand we use connecting words like and, but and because. We also use sequencing words like then, next and after that.
