

3. Have it your way!

Order a pizza and a smoothie and choose extra ingredients.

a. Listen to the example and play with your partner.

- A: "I would like a regular pizza, please."
- B: "Would you like extra ingredients?"
- A: "Yes, please. I would like ham and onion."
- B: "Here you are. That's £9."

A polite way to ask for something:

I would like ...

b. Your turn! (Si tu es seul(e), joue à la fois le client et le vendeur.)

- A: "I would like a, please."
- B: "Would you like extra ingredients?"
- A: "Yes, please. I would like and and"
- B: "Here you are. That's (pounds)."

Regular Pizza £8  Extra ingredients 50p ham / mushroom / cheese / peas / onion / bacon / olives	Regular Smoothie £4  Extra ingredients 50p strawberries / pear / apple / banana

4. At the market

a. Listen to the dialogue and pay attention to the intonation.

b. Play the dialogue with a friend.

Respect the intonation.

Customer: "Hello!"

Cashier: "Hi!"

Customer: "How much is the cheese?"

Cashier: "It's £2.20."

Customer: "How much are the tomatoes?"

Cashier: "They are 90 p."

Customer: "Can I have cheese and tomatoes, please?"

Cashier: "No problem. That is £3.10"

Customer: "Here you are! Bye!"

Cashier: "Thank you! See you!"

Pour connaître le prix d'un article : How much is it ?

Pour connaître le prix de plusieurs articles : How much are they ?

c. Now, do your shopping.

Sur le modèle du dialogue ci-dessus, fais comme si tu étais au marché et fais tes courses.

*S'il n'y a personne de ta famille pour faire
le jeu de rôle avec toi, joue les deux rôles.*
