

Put the verbs in parentheses in the correct infinitive or gerund form.

My brother always love _____ (play) the cello, ever since he was a child. He began _____ (take) cello lessons when he was five and he always wanted _____ (become) a professional cellist. Our parents had no objections and let him _____ (do) whatever he liked. Then one day, when _____ (receive) his diploma, he decided _____ (quit) music and join the army.

Fill in the blanks with: mustn't or don't have to

1. A: You _____ be late for school.
B: I'm sorry. It won't happen again.
2. A: Should I water the plants?
B: No, you _____. I've Already watered them.
3. A: You _____ buy any apples. I've just bought two pounds.
B: Great! I'll make an apple pie, then.
4. A: You _____ wear high-heeled shoes on the boat.
B: Oh, I'm sorry! I'll take them off.
5. A: You _____ feed the dog. I fed him ten minutes ago.
B: All right. I'll take him for a walk.
6. A: You _____ go to the post office now. You can go later.
B: OK.
7. A: You _____ take the car again without asking.
B: I'm sorry, Mom.
8. A: Can I take photographs in the museum?
B: No, you _____. It's forbidden.
9. A: can I help you with your luggage?
B: You _____, thanks. It isn't heavy.
10. A: Now, you _____ open your exam papers until I tell you.
B: Yes, Mrs. Douglas.

