

After some weeks watching how Keplerians-12 behave, you have been able to state some of their social rules. At first sight, they seem to be very different rules from earthlings' rules.

- 1. When someone arrives at a place, the Keplerians who are already in that place greet the newcomers by raising both hands and looking at them.
- 2. Keplerians don't tend to stare at another Keplerian for too long so as not to make them uncomfortable.
- 3. Keplerians do not open their mouths to speak while eating. In restaurants, there is no talking and diners remain silent during the meal. At home, some phrases are exchanged between dishes.
- 4. It is not normal to interrupt others when they speak. If they speak in a group, the oldest Keplerian gives the floor to each of those gathered.
- 5. A general social norm is not to speak loudly.
- 6. It is not necessary to be neat or well dressed in public spaces. It is normal to wear stained and old clothes to work. At home, however, they wash up and put on smart clothes.
- 7. It is not frequent to live as a family. Most Keplerians live in residences with people of their age and / or their trade.
- 8. Keplerians under 14 have a guardian who is rarely one of their parents. These minors live together in a residence until their 15th birthday.
- 9. It is common to give a seat to young adolescents in any public place.
- 10. Keplerians consider the opinion of the young to be more important than that of the elders since, according to them, their opinion is more based on Nature. However, they respect all opinions, even if they differ from theirs.
- 11. In KP2 18b, some celebrations or parties are normal. In the parties, they hold hands and recite verses by famous authors. The parties are only outdoors and there is no drinking or eating.
- 12. For Keplerians, it is not normal to celebrate their birthday or their saint day. There are also no celebrations like Christmas. But every Keplerian New Year they give presents to each other.
- 13. They do not usually make noise when it is late at night, but during the sunny hours, Keplerians are usually very noisy.
- 14. In KP2 18b, there are four types of gender and most Keplerians change gender at least once in their lifetime.
- 15. Keplerians can only have sex on certain days of the month and can never choose a partner because the choice of partner is due to chance. According to the age, they have more or less days to have sex.
- 16. For Keplerians, it is normal to show their emotions in public; that is why it is common to see them cry or laugh, dance or hit the wall.
