

Questions

There are two main types of direct questions.

Word order: question word + auxiliary verb (e.g. are/did/does) + subject + main verb

Yes/No questions: Are you going to Danka's party?

Wh- questions: Where did she learn to speak Spanish?

Subject questions are used when the question word (e.g. who) refers to the subject of the sentence.

Word order: Question word + main verb + subject

The teacher told us to go. → Who told you to go?

We use indirect questions when we want to be polite (e.g. when we don't know someone).

There are different ways of starting indirect questions (e.g. Do you know ..., Can you tell me ..., Could you tell me ..., Is it OK if ..., I'd like to know ...).

We use the word order of positive statements. We use if or whether for indirect Yes/No questions.

Can you tell me where the nearest bank is?

Do you know whether this bus goes to Oxford?

a Find the mistake in each question and correct it.

1 Where you are living at the moment?

2 He has ever been trekking before?

3 Who did give you those lovely flowers?

4 What time you be here tomorrow?

5 You having a holiday soon?

6 When this company was started?

b Turn these questions into indirect:

E.g. Do you go on holiday every year?

- 1 Where have you put my sunglasses? → Do you know...
- 2 What time does the bank open? → I don't remember...
- 3 Were there any souvenirs for sale at the hotel? → Can you tell me...
- 4 Why did Paul leave the table so quickly? → I wonder...
- 5 Why do you always disagree with me? → I really want to know...
- 6 Does Tim study languages? → I don't know...

Write your answers in the chart.
