El Caleuche

The Caleuche legend tells the story of a phantom ship that carries wizards and witches and sails along the south Pacific, appearing sporadically close to beaches during the night. When the tide is low you can distinguish something in the fog, like a highly illuminated vessel with music on board, as if a party were in full swing. The myth tells that those who witness this spectacle –fishermen, in general– turn into marine animals such as seals or sea lions, or are simply borne away on the Caleuche.
