Expressions Communities.

Drag and drop the expressions in the correct sentence.

takes some getting used to a mixed blessing mind their own business mean well look on the bright side look out for each other got a lot to offer

A: Hey, long time no see. How have you been?

B: I can't complain. I've moved Now I'm living in this big city.

A: Great!!! How long?

B: I've been living here for about 2 years.

A: How did you like living here?

B: Well, kind of. You know the city has ..... You have great places to go. You never get bored. But it's been a huge change. It's not the same. It....., I still can't.

A: Yeah, given that you've been living in the suburbs, you must be a little uncomfortable.

B: Yeah. There are great neighbors who ..... I mean they help you with whatever they can. But you know there are others that just intrude your life and criticize the time you arrive and the things you do. They should.....and let other people live in peace.

A: Come on! ....., I believe they..... They just worry about you and the rest of the apartment building. However, I believe that still living in the suburbs was a better idea.

B: You know it's..... it takes a little more to arrive to the city. But at least neighbors don't intrude in other people's lives.