

Complete the sentences with some/any or much/many.

1. I was in Istanbul for a week and I learnt _____ Turkish vocabulary, but not enough to have _____ conversations in Turkish.
2. A: Are there _____ non-European students in your class?
B: There aren't _____ - just one from Morocco and one from Japan.
3. I don't have _____ money on me at the moment – only five euros.
4. Oscar doesn't make _____ grammar mistakes, but he has _____ problems with pronunciation.
5. I know almost all the irregular verbs, but _____ are very hard to memorise.
6. You don't need to do _____ revision for the German exam tomorrow. Just practice your writing.

Cross out who, which, that in the sentences if it's possible to leave it out.

1. The foreign language that I like best is French.
2. David Crystal is the linguist who wrote some fascinating books about the English language.
3. Can you tell me the name of your friend who I met last night?
4. This is the list of verbs which you need to revise.
5. He made a strange gesture which meant 'go away'.

Complete the text with the words in the box. Use each word only once.

0 * when * where * which * who * whose

Do you have any friends _____ can speak nine languages? I do! Alex is a guy _____ I met in Greece last summer. We met at the language school in Athens _____ we were studying. We were both in a class with a teacher _____ classes were fantastic. Alex learnt English, German and French at school and then he went travelling round the world and learnt Russian, Polish, Arabic and Japanese _____ he was a young man. He said it was curiosity _____ made him learn so many languages.