Jacob and Daniel go to the Fair

Jacob and Daniel can't wait until tonight. The fair is in town and Jacob's dad is taking them there. They agree that the best thing about the fair is all the rides, but the cotton candy and candy apples are great too! They want to try to ride every single ride before it's time to go. So, Jacob and Daniel go from ride to ride, stopping only for snack in between. Before long, Daniel says, "Hey, Jacob, I'm not feeling so great." Jacob said, "I'm glad you said that because I'm not either. Maybe trying to ride everything wasn't such a good idea after all." As they are leaving, Jacob says, "Riding rides is fun, but I guess you can have too much of a good thing."
