

Name:

CHOOSE THE CORRECT ANSWER:

1. _____ is a measure of how much matter is in an object.

A. energy

B. mass

C. material

2. An example for solid is _____

A. water

B. stone

C. oil

3. An example for gas is _____

A. water

B. stone

C. clouds

4. An example for liquids is _____

A. water

B. stone

C. wind

5. change of solid into liquid on heating is called

A. watering

B. melting

C. Evaporation

6. Which of these is hard

A. water

B. stone

C. wind

7. changes of gas into liquid on cooling is called

A. watering

B. condensation

C. Evaporation

8. changes of liquid into solid on cooling is known as

A. freezing

B. condensation

C. Evaporation

9. what makes the coconut oil freeze in winter season?

A. solid

B. gas

C. liquid

10. the space occupied by an object is called its _____

A. energy

B. volume

C. space