- A. Read the extract and choose the correct answer from the options given in red. Only one word can be used in each sentence. There are no repeat answers.

It's hard to think of what homes will be like in the future. Over the last 30 years there has already been so much change – who would have believed back in the 1970s that we would be living in such a technological world? So, imagining the future is really hard, given how quickly things change.

Personally, I'd like to see household routines becoming far better for the environment. I think we'll be using more clean energy at home in the future. For example, we'll be using far more (solar energy, non-biodegradable, biodegradable, sustainable, composting) than now and using solar panels instead of replacing batteries.

Hopefully, there will be a lot less rubbish in the future compared to now, so putting out the rubbish will be a thing of the past. There will be nowhere near as much (solar energy, non-biodegradable, biodegradable, sustainable, composting) rubbish as today because companies will be rewarded for making their products out of (solar energy, biodegradable and composting, sustainable) materials. We will see far more recycling done at home – using (solar energy, non-biodegradable, biodegradable, sustainable, composting) bins.

Maybe there will be a lot more robots being used around the house. All we will have to do is set up a program and push a button! That's what many people predict. But I'm not sure I'd want a robot to do everything. What would we do? There is a lot of pleasure in a job done well. Even though household routines can be hard work and really boring, they can also be very relaxing.
