I like playing sport. I play football every Tuesday evening at the park near my house.

I enjoy having coffee with my friends. We go to a café in the city center once or twice a week.

I really like taking wildlife photos in the forest, but I don't get the chance to do it often.

When and why you started doing it?

I started playing tennis when I was ten.

I've been learning painting for 6 months now.

I decided to do yoga because I want to be more flexible.

My French friend got me into climbing.

Why you like/ dislike this activity

like

I like climbing because it's really exciting.

I love doing yoga because it's so relaxing.

I really like writing stories because it's creative. I like using my imagination.

Dislike

I don't like jogging because it's tiring.

I hate watching TV because it's boring.

I've been trying to learn to paint but it's too hard.

Example

I really like playing tennis. I play every weekend at the park near my house. Sometimes I play with my brother or sometimes with a friend. My brother got me into it because he loves sports and needed someone to play with. I didn't like it at first, because it was hard and I lost all the time, but now I enjoy it, especially, when I beat my brother.

Example

I love taking photos. Once or twice a month, I go to different areas of the city and look for interesting pictures to take. I've been interested in photography since I was young, when my dad got me a camera for my birthday. I like it because it's creative and I can express myself through pictures. Anyone can use a camera but you need to use your imagination to find good pictures.
