

LANGUAGE DIFFERENCES

Observa las diferentes palabras utilizadas en US y UK. Después completa las oraciones de abajo con las palabras correctas.

British
chips

American
french fries
/'frɛnʃ 'fraɪz/

British
timetable /'taɪm,teɪbəl/

American schedule /'skɛ,ʒu:l/

a list of the times when something (e.g. bus, train, or airplane) is expected to leave or arrive.

British
crisps

American
potato chips
/pə'teɪtəʊ 'ɪfɪps/

British
rubber /'rʌbər/

American
eraser /ɪ'reɪsər/

a small piece of rubber that is used to erase something that has been written or drawn

British
biscuit

American cookie /'kʊki/

British post

American mail /'meɪl/

a system of sending letters and packages from one person to another

British
sweets

American
candy /'kændi/

British
car park

American parking lot /'pɑ:kɪŋ ,lət/

British petrol

American gas /gæs/

1. American people don't say _____, they say schedule.
2. American people don't say crisps, they say _____.
3. American people say _____, they don't say car park.
4. American people say cookie, they don't say _____.
5. American people say mail, they don't say _____.
6. British people don't say _____, they say rubber.
7. British people don't say French fries, they say _____.
8. British people don't say gas, they say _____.
9. British people say _____, they don't say candy.
10. British people say crisps, they don't say _____.