

MORE MAIN IDEAS

Tiny water droplet float in the sky. When many droplets come together, they form clouds. Clouds can be all different shapes and sizes. White, fluffy clouds show good weather. Rain clouds are flat and gray. Some thin, curly clouds float high in the sky.

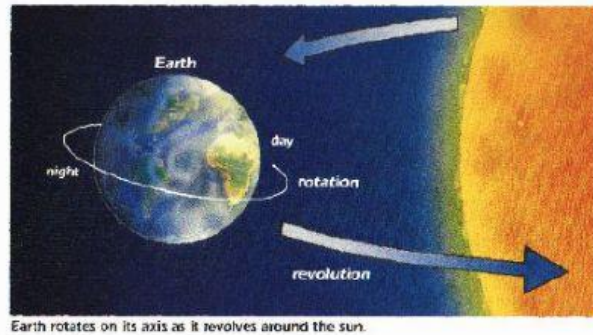

What is the main idea of this paragraph?

Air that moves is called wind. Wind has energy and moves clouds and rain across the sky. Wind helps you fly a kite. When the wind is light it is a breeze. Strong wind is gale. Hurricanes bring very strong winds.

What is the main idea of this paragraph?

We live on the planet Earth. The Earth rotates or spins around and around. This gives us day and night. During the day we see the Sun and the Moon at night. The Earth also revolves or moves around the Sun.

What is the main idea of this paragraph?

You can find types of insects or bugs in your back yard. Dragonflies can fly backwards, and only male crickets can sing. Caterpillars shed their skin as they grow and become butterflies. Bees do a waggle dance to talk with other bees and spiders have eight legs.

What is the main idea of this paragraph?